1. Claims 8-21 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the closest prior art is Klein, which discloses a trophy comprising a supporting base having an upper surface and a lower surface (see Fig 1). A decorative member is connected to the supporting base and the decorative member comprises a molded body (members 12-14 in Fig. 1) with a front surface having a central portion circumscribed by a marginal portion, a back surface having an upper portion and a lower portion (members 12 and 16 in Fig. 2) and the lower portion having a first threaded bore formed (see Fig. 2).

No prior art, alone or combinable with Klein was found to teach the trophy comprising the support rod having a surface engaging first end and a second threaded end, and the second threaded end being threadably received within the first threaded bore formed and the back surface of the molded body as recited in claims 9, 15 and 19, and the ornamental plaque affixed to the central portion of the front surface as recited in claim 20, and the hanger means connected to the back surface of the molded body for hanging the molded body on a vertical surface as recited in claims 15 and 21.
